AMERICAN MEN OF SCIENCE

edited by Jaques Cattell

Volume I: The Physical Sciences
Volume II: The Biological Sciences

Now you can have up-to-date biographical facts on over 68,000 leading physical and biological scientists in the United States. Chemist, physicist, mathematician, meteorologist, biochemist, zoologist, botanist... you'll find these and more in the new two-volume AMERICAN MEN OF SCIENCE. YOU know the man — let AMERICAN MEN OF SCIENCE make your contact by telling you his place of business, his home address, his speciality, his educational background, & his professional affiliations.

TAKE ADVANTAGE of these painstakingly accurate facts to put you in touch with — and tell you what you want to know about — the leading scientists of today!

"We all use this wonderful index constantly and are very much indebted to you and your staff for the monumental accomplishment of putting it together," writes Dr. A. R. T. Denyes, Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research.

NOW . . . 22,000 items offered to you for immediate shipment from our stock.

This new Supplement follows the tradition of the Thomas catalogue on which the following comment was made by a leading scientific periodical:

"More than a catalogue . . . a source of reference the user will place on his shelves with manuals and textbooks."

The encyclopedic catalogue of 1472 pages and the new 264-page supplement list a total of approximately 22,000 current items, adequate stocks of which are carried for immediate shipment.

The selection of apparatus is based upon more than half a century of experience in supplying the needs of laboratories of Chemistry and Biology, both large and small. Choice was made after careful consideration, and testing by the Thomas technological staff. Items included are therefore offered with assurance of being satisfactory for the purpose intended.

This new Supplement with current Price List, in combination with the general catalogue, constitutes an up-to-date listing of one of the most comprehensive assortments of apparatus and reagents available from any single source.

Supplement now being mailed to all who have the Thomas catalogue.
