Editorial

Space Exploration as Propaganda

Articles

Some Prehistoric Connections between Siberia and America: J. B. Griffin

The intercontinental cultural resemblances can now be studied in terms of more accurate chronology.

Hybrids of Escherichia and Salmonella: N. D. Zinder

The genetic homologies of these bacteria are determined by mating and transduction.

Science in the News

United States Satellite Launched into Orbit around Sun

Book Reviews

K. M. Panikkar's The Afro-Asian States and Their Problems, reviewed by W. H. Kraus; other reviews

Reports

Gold-198 Wires Used To Study Movements of Small Mammals: S. V. Kaye

Gibberellin-Induced Inhibition of Bud Development in Some Species of Prunus: M. V. Bradley and J. C. Crane

The Sun Azimuth Compass: One Factor in the Orientation of Homing Pigeons: K. Schmidt-Koenig

Adaptation of Cardiac Output to Peripheral Runoff Studied in Intact Dogs: H. P. Pieper

Primary Site of Gene Action in Anterior Pituitary Dwarf Mice: R. L. Carsner and E. G. Rennels

Heterogeneity of Ion Exchange Resins: M. G. Suryaraman and H. F. Walton

Zinc-65 in Cyclotron Workers: M. A. Van Dilla and M. J. Engelke

Laminarase of Euglena gracilis: J. Fellig

Departments

Letters from J. W. Berg and H. F. Blum; R. Björnerstedt et al.; A. N. Tsvetikov; K. E. Boulding; B. D. Thomas; R. C. von Borstel and E. F. Knipling

Program of the Gordon Research Conferences

Forthcoming Events; New Products

Cover

Aurora, taken at the Ballaines Lake field station of the Geophysical Institute, University of Alaska, in mid-April 1957. The structures in silhouette are dipoles of the institute's radio telescope. Exposure, 5 seconds. [V. P. Hessler]