The American Association for the Advancement of Science was founded in 1848 and incorporated in 1874. Its objects are to further the work of scientists, to facilitate cooperation among them, to spread the knowledge of science in the promotion of human welfare, and to remove public under-

Stalked glands, with droplets of sticky secretion at their tips, on the surface of a leaf of the Southern sundew plant, Drosera capillaris. Small insects become entrapped in the viscid fluid and are eventually digested by the plant. The caterpillar of a plume moth, Trichopis parvulus, feeds on the glands and the secretion, and even consumes dead insects trapped by the plant. See page 1608.
