Blood Velocity Measurements in Intact Subjects: O. C. Morse and J. R. Singer

Bimodal Sedimenting Zones Due to Ligand-Mediated Interactions: J. R. Cann and W. B. Good

Macrophage Membranes Viewed through a Scanning Electron Microscope: A. H. Warfel and S. S. Elberg

Specific Inhibition of Nuclear RNA Polymerase by α-Amanitin: T. J. Lindell et al.

Echo-Ranging Neurons in the Inferior Colliculus of Bats: N. Suga

Coagulation Inhibitor Elicited by Thrombin: E. Marciniak

Histamine Production by Transplantable Argyrophilic Gastric Carcinoid of Praomys (Mastomys) natalensis: S. Hosoda et al.

Trisomy-3,4 and Triploidy (3A-ZZZW) in Chick Embryos: Autosomal and Sex Chromosomal Nondisjunction in Meiosis: S. E. Bloom

Rapid Axonal Transport of Sulfated Mucopolysaccharide Proteins: J. S. Elam et al.

Plasticizers from Plastic Devices: Extraction, Metabolism, and Accumulation by Biological Systems: R. J. Jaeger and R. J. Rubin

Radioresistance of Cooperative Function of Carrier-Specific Lymphocytes in Antihapten Antibody Responses: D. H. Katz et al.

Electrical Coupling: Low Resistance Junctions between Mitotic and Interphase Fibroblasts in Tissue Culture: P. O’Logue et al.

Shear Degradation of Fibrinogen in the Circulation: S. E. Charm and B. L. Wong

ASSOCIATION AFFAIRS

International Biological Program: J. McKee; Tours

COVER

Center of Paris, showing the wide diagonal avenues that, in the 19th century, were superimposed on the existing pattern of streets, to speed transportation. Such planned cities of traditional type, the result of long human experience, tend to acquire monumental characteristics. One inch on the scale represents 0.57 kilometer. See page 393. [C. A. Doxiadis]