LETTERS

EDITORIAL
International Women’s Year: I. Tinker ................................................................. 1249

ARTICLES
Host Phase of a Strange Xenon Component in Allende: R. S. Lewis, B. Sriniwasan, E. Anders ................................................................. 1251
Extinct Superheavy Element in the Allende Meteorite: E. Anders et al. .................... 1262

NEWS AND COMMENT
The Haemmerli Affair: Is Passive Euthanasia Murder? ............................................ 1277
States Debate Death with Dignity Bills ................................................................. 1277
Opium-Free Poppy Under Study as Codeine Source ................................................. 1274
Arms Control Agency: New Law Seeks to End Its Period of “Eclipse” ....................... 1277
Somber Reflections on Congress by a Retiring Member ........................................... 1276
Private Colleges Holding Their Own ................................................................. 1277

RESEARCH NEWS
European Breeders (I): France Leads the Way .......................................................... 1279
Diabetes Therapy: Can New Techniques Halt Complications? ............................... 1281

ANNUAL MEETING
Perspectives on Science and Our Expectations: A. Herschman .................................. 1281

BOOK REVIEWS
Moral Development, reviewed by J. Adelson; The Camel and the Wheel, G. R. Garthwaite; Insects, Science, and Society, H. V. Daly; Books Received ................................................................. 1288
San Simeon–Hosgri Fault System, Coastal California: Economic and Environmental Implications: C. A. Hall Jr. .................................................. 1291
Stratospheric Ozone: The Possible Effects of Tropospheric-Stratospheric Feedback: W. L. Chameides and J. C. G. Walker ...................... 1294
Polygyny in Indigo Buntings: A Hypothesis Tested: M. Carey and V. Nolan Jr. ....... 1296
Large-Scale Isolation of Intact Vacuoles and Isolation of Chloroplasts from Protoplasts of Mature Plant Tissues: G. J. Wagner and H. W. Siegelman ....... 1298
Stimulation in vitro by 1,25-Dihydroxy-Vitamin D_3 of Intestinal Cell Calcium Uptake and Calcium-Binding Protein: T. Freund and F. Bronner. ......... 1300
Lipoprotein and Lecithin: Cholesterol Acyltransferase Changes in Galactosamine-Induced Rat Liver Injury: S. M. Sabesin, L. B. Kuiken, J. B. Ragland ........................................................................ 1302
Transferrin: Internal Homology in the Amino Acid Sequence: R. T. A. MacGillivray and K. Brew .......................................................... 1306
Estrogen Target Sites in the Brain of the Chick Embryo: M. C. Martinez-Vargas et al. ................................................................. 1307
Lymphocytes of the Toad Xenopus laevis Have the Gene Set for Promoting Tadpole Development: M. R. Wahl, R. B. Brun, L. Du Pasquier ........... 1310
Acoustically Orienting Parasitoids: Fly Phonotaxis to Cricket Song: W. Cade .................................................................................. 1312
Weaning and Growth of Artificially Reared Rats: W. G. Hall ........................................................................................................... 1313
Changes in the Intensity and Pleasantness of Human Vaginal Odors During the Menstrual Cycle: R. L. Doty et al. ........................................... 1316
Locus of Short-Term Visual Storage: B. Sakitt ...................................................................................................................... 1318

Intact vacuoles from flower petals from two Tulipa cultivars. Vacuoles were isolated by gentle osmotic rupture of enzymatically isolated protoplasts. Soluble anthocyanin pigments are contained in the sap of most vacuoles (about X330). See page 1298. [G. J. Wagner and H. W. Siegelman, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, New York]