This Week in Science

Editorial

Transportation of Hazardous Materials

Letters

News & Comment

American Weapons, Alien Parts
Gene Splicing Dominates Review of Weapons Pact ■ Soviets Discuss Sverdlovsk
Red Tape Snarls Soviet Research Ship
Briefing: NIH Considers Major Change in Definition of Recombinant DNA ■ NIH Leaves Gene Therapy Rules as Is ■ Rhinos Pushed to the Brink for Trinkets and Medicines ■ Education Statistics Found to Be Inadequate ■ BP Looks for Remarkable Research Projects

Research News

Damage to Tropical Forests, or Why Were There So Many Kinds of Animals?
New Rule Proposed for Protein Degradation
In Search of Dark Matter

Articles

Quasars at 25: V. Trimble and L. Wolter
Early Signals in the Mitogenic Response: E. Rozengurt
Experimental Methods in the Political Economy of Exchange: V. L. Smith

Research Articles

In Vivo Half-Life of a Protein Is a Function of Its Amino-Terminal Residue: A. Bachmaier, D. Finley, A. Varshavsky

Reports

Lightning Strike Fusion: Extreme Reduction and Metal-Silicate Liquid Immiscibility: E. J. Esseen and D. C. Fisher