The American Association for the Advancement of Science was founded in 1848 and incorporated in 1874. Its objects are to further the work of scientists, to facilitate cooperation among them, to foster scientific freedom and responsibility, to improve the effectiveness of science in the promotion of human welfare, and to increase public understanding and appreciation of the importance and promise of the methods of science in human progress.
Two views of the distribution of 3962 galaxies in three-dimensional redshift space. The white points display the distribution of galaxies in the right ascension range $8^h$ to $17^h$ and declination range $26.5^\circ$ to $44.5^\circ$; the orange in the declination range $8.5^\circ$ to $14.5^\circ$. "The Great Wall" crosses the survey nearly parallel to the outer boundary. See pages 885 and 897. [Graphics by M. J. Geller, J. P. Huchra, E. Falco, and R. K. McMahon]
