The American Association for the Advancement of Science was founded in 1848 and incorporated in 1874. Its objectives are to further the work of scientists, to facilitate cooperation among them, to foster scientific freedom and responsibility, to improve the effectiveness of science in the promotion of human welfare, to advance education in science, and to increase public understanding and appreciation of the importance and promise of the methods of science in human progress.
Cover: Inspired by Leonardo da Vinci’s “Proportions of the Human Figure According to Vitruvius,” the cover image symbolizes that the creativity of scientists is at the center of technological advances. Scientists’ curiosity about biological processes has often led to discoveries that proved useful for biotechnology. One-half of the figure’s appendages are robot-like, showing that technology is an extension of its creator. The figure holds a flask of microorganisms, an antibody, and oligonucleotide primers, representing some of the tools of biotechnology discussed in this issue; the fistful of dollars signifies the entrepreneurial aspect of biotechnology.
