The straight blue lines in the well regions represent the energy levels, and the bell-shaped curves, the probability distributions for occupation of that level. See page 553 and the news story on page 508. [Illustration: Keith D. Drake and Frank A. Antal, AT&T Bell Labs]
