

Will you be meeting a Nobel Prize winner this December?

(If you have a recent PhD you could be.)

Stockholm in the second week of December is a special place. The city is alive with excitement as it welcomes and celebrates the new Nobel Laureates at the annual Nobel Prize ceremony.

If you are a PhD student, you could be here too – meeting a Nobel Laureate and receiving a rather special prize yourself.

The journal Science & SciLifeLab have established The Science & SciLifeLab Prize for Young Scientists, to recognize and reward excellence in PhD research and support young scientists at the start of their careers. It's about bright minds, bright ideas and bright futures.

Four winners will be selected for this international award. They will have their essays published in the journal Science and share a new total of 60,000 USD in prize money. The winners will be awarded in Stockholm, in December, and take part in a unique week of events including meeting leading scientists in their fields.

"The last couple of days have been exhilarating. It has been an experience of a lifetime. Stockholm is a wonderful city and the Award winning ceremony exceeds my wildest dreams."

–Dr. Dan Dominissini, 2014 Prize Winner

Who knows, The Science & SciLifeLab Prize for Young Scientists could be a major stepping stone in your career and hopefully one day, during Nobel week, you could be visiting Stockholm in December once again.

The 2015 Prize is now open. The deadline for submissions is August 1, 2015.

The 2015 Prize categories are:

- Cell and Molecular Biology
- Ecology and Environment
- Genomics and Proteomics
- Translational Medicine

This prize is made possible with the kind support of the Knut and Alice Wallenberg Foundation. This Foundation grants funding in two main areas; research projects of high scientific potential and individual support of excellent scientists.
