Faculty Position

The Koch Institute for Integrative Cancer Research at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (http://ki.mit.edu) invites applications for a junior or senior faculty appointment. Appointments are expected to be in the MIT Department of Biology, but other departments will be considered if appropriate. The Koch Institute is an NCI-designated Cancer Center, which features research across a wide range of areas in basic cancer research and cancer-oriented engineering. This is an open search with regard to field of study and specific research focus, and research programs focused on basic science questions are potentially appropriate, but some cancer relevance will be a consideration. The candidate(s) will be expected to develop and lead an internationally competitive research program as well as participate in undergraduate and graduate teaching. The successful candidate(s) will have laboratory space in the Koch Institute.

Applicants should include curriculum vitae, brief summaries of past accomplishments and a description of future research plans. Letters of recommendation should be sent separately from three individuals able to evaluate the candidate’s accomplishments and future potential for both research and teaching.

Please apply online at https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9566

Complete applications are due by November 1, 2017.

MIT is an affirmative action employer, and we encourage applications from women and underrepresented minorities.

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY
Ames, Iowa

Department of Genetics, Development and Cell Biology

Assistant Professor

The Department of Genetics, Development and Cell Biology (GDCB) at Iowa State University invites applications for two tenure-track assistant professor positions beginning August 2018. GDCB seeks to enhance and build upon existing strengths at ISU, with an emphasis on (i) cellular or developmental processes integral to animal health or disease, especially in genetic model organisms; or (ii) cellular or developmental mechanisms that underpin plant responses to environmental signals and stresses.

Responsibilities include building nationally recognized research programs that compete successfully for extramural funding, advancing the discipline through high-quality publications, mentoring students, and effective teaching of undergraduate and graduate courses. The successful candidates will possess excellent communication and leadership skills and will share the university’s commitment to an inclusive environment that supports world-class diversity.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in life sciences or related discipline
- Postdoctoral research experience
- Published record of high quality research in GDCB fields

Please visit https://www.iastatejobs.com/postings/28431 to view the entire vacancy and apply electronically. Vacancy will close on October 15, 2017.

Iowa State University is an EO/AA Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, or protected Vets status.
