Its objects are to further the work of scientists, to facilitate cooperation among them, to foster scientific freedom and responsibility, to improve the effectiveness of science in the promotion of human welfare, and to increase public understanding and appreciation of the importance and promise of the methods of science in human progress.

COVER Motions involved in double rotation, a means to obtain sharp nuclear magnetic resonance (NMR) spectra for quadrupolar nuclei in solid materials. The sample is contained in the inner (orange) cylinder, which rotates ~7000 times per second around an axis inclined at 30.6° to the axis of the outer (blue) cylinder. The outer cylinder, which has a diameter of ~1 centimeter, rotates ~1000 times per second around an axis inclined at 54.7° to the magnetic field. See page 71.
