Newly offered instrumentation, apparatus, and laboratory materials of interest to researchers in all disciplines in academic, industrial, and government organizations are featured in this space. Emphasis is given to purpose, chief characteristics, and materials of interest to researchers in all disciplines in academic, industrial, and government organizations. Information on products and services found in the pages of Science may be obtained by directly visiting the Web sites listed, by e-mail, fax, mail, or telephone. Additional information may be obtained from the manufacturer or supplier by visiting www.science.labvelocity.com on the Web, where you can request that the information be sent to you by e-mail, fax, mail, or telephone.