

spring. It is but feebly subject to the influence of altitude. So sensitive is it to the presence of oxidizable substances in the air that daily and local variations must be due to the existence in the atmosphere of 'actinic clouds' otherwise undiscoverable. In northern latitudes the atmosphere is less absorbent of actinic rays and hence that kind of radiation is more active relatively than in lower latitudes. The actinic effect of the sun increases more rapidly than the duration of its presence above the horizon ; as a result, the effect produced during the long days of the northern summer is proportionally very great. The actinic effect may continue after the luminous effect of the sun's radiation has become clouded ; thus the effect of a fine morning is not lost by a dark and cloudy evening. The duration of the day and the solar effect as usually measured are of little value for calculating the true actinic effect of sunlight. The paper as a whole is of unusual interest.

SOCIETIES AND ACADEMIES.

KANSAS ACADEMY OF SCIENCE.

THE thirteenth annual meeting of the Academy was held at Baker University on October 27th, 28th and 29th, under the presidency of Professor S. W. Williston.

The scientific program was as follows :

- The migrations of birds.....J. R. Mead
- A list of the Goss Ornithological Collection, being the report of the Board of Curators....D. E. Lantz
- A Bibliography of Kansas ornithology, with an historical list of Kansas Birds.....D. E. Lantz
- A list of the birds taken in Mexico and Central America by the late Colonel N. S. Goss, with notes of localities.....D. E. Lantz
- An historical list of Kansas mammals.....D. E. Lantz
- The injurious insects of the year in Kansas.....S. J. Hunter
- Kansas Lachnosterna.....Warren Knaus
- Entomological collecting notes.....Warren Knaus
- Observations on the elm-twig girdler.....Percy J. Parrott
- The natural history possibilities of Belvidere, Kansas.....C. N. Gould
- An inexpensive dissecting-stand for microscopical dissections.....S. J. Hunter
- Biological notes.....S. J. Hunter
- A floral horologue for Kansas.....B. B. Smyth

- Root tubercles and their production by inoculation.....D. H. Otis
- Therapeutical notes on some Kansas plants.....L. E. Sayre
- Notes on Kansas plants.....A. S. Hitchcock
- Bibliography of literature relating to wind effects on trees.....J. B. S. Norton
- On the finding of insects in the Comanche Cretaceous of Kansas.....C. N. Gould
- Fusulina cylindrica* shell structure.....Alva J. Smith
- Range and distribution of the Mosasauria.....S. W. Williston
- A new Labyrinthodont from the Kansas Carboniferous.....S. W. Williston
- Geological notes on Trego County and vicinity.....J. W. Beede
- A preliminary report on the geology of the Delaware Valley in Atchison County.....J. W. Wilson
- New developments in the Mentor beds...C. N. Gould
- Extremes and means of Kansas climate...F. H. Snow
- Viscosity of the ether.....A. St. C. Dunstan
- Alternating currents in a Wheatstone bridge where branches contain resistance and capacities.....Martin E. Rice
- Equilibrium of forces in a film originally spherical, grounded in the presence of an external electric charge.....L. I. Blake
- Some problems of marine telephony without wires.....L. I. Blake
- The dehydration of gypsite.....E. H. S. Bailey
- Some new mineral waters.....E. H. S. Bailey
- Decomposition of some diazo compounds with methyl alcohol.....Geo. F. Weida
- On the generation of finite transformations from infinitesimal transformations.....H. B. Newson
- Additional notes on the timbered mounds of the Kaw Reservation.....C. N. Gould
- Relativity in science.....E. B. Knerr
- The subject of the President's address was 'Science and Education.'
